

Portal Writing Reflection Questions

1. What do you notice about what happens when you portal a story?
2. What kinds of words did you portal? Are they similar? Different?
3. What do these words make you think about? What kind of images do they conjure up for you? How can we use these images to help re-vision a new story?
4. What kinds of questions did you ask yourself about the text during the portal process? How do these questions help you think about the story?
5. What kind of directions do these portaled stories give you?