Early 1900s

Scenario Two: John and Mary lived on a small farm, which bordered Harry's farm. They were good friends with Harry. John and Mary never put their horse, Willie, in the barn at night, even though Willie was their most prized possession. They depended on Willie for survival, because he pulled their carriage into town and ploughed their fields for harvest. One day, they woke up to find that Willie had been stolen by Harry, who fled the town.

Early 1800s

Scenario Three: Ruth and Isaac were poor townspeople who could barely provide for their five children. They were overjoyed when they managed to arrange a marriage between their eldest daughter, Elizabeth, and a wealthy man twice her age, because he would bring riches to their family. Elizabeth was disgusted when her parents told her that she would be marrying a man that she did not love the following day with no explanation. On the day of the wedding, Ruth and Isaac were horrified to discover that Elizabeth ran away from home.
