PREWRITING SHEET

List the characters you want in your story. Tell a little about each of them (what they look like, like to do, their personality, etc.).

When and where are you thinking this story will take place? List your answers below.

Think about the plot of your story. Jot down words or phrases that summarize what you want to happen in the beginning, middle, and end. If you have lines or dialogues you want to incorporate, include it here.

Beginning

Middle

End

REFINE YOUR THINKING

Write in one or two sentences how you want to end or wrap up your story.

For example: My character will become friends with the boy in the wheelchair.

Look at the sentences above and ask yourself how, when, where, what, or why. Write your response in the first space. Repeat until you get to the end or have a clear understanding of your story.

For example: How will my character bome friends with the boy in the wheelchair? He will save him from the bully. How does he save the disabled boy? By standing up to the bully. Why does my character stand up for the disabled boy? Because his sister is in a wheelchair.
