

Autobiographical Incident by Kelsey

My one big day was my 10th birthday. My sister was gone for the weekend and that was great! My mom and I went to church and my dad went to work at his school. My mom went to the grocery store but promised to bring me home a milkshake. It was my birthday! I got to play the computer and no one bothered me. I played all afternoon! My mom talked to my dad on the phone and he said he was coming home. Mom told me to get off the computer. I was in the middle of a game so I told her to hang on. She told me again to get off the computer. I still wasn't done. My dad got home then. I tried to hurry and be done. I saw my mom with her camera. I stopped to smile for the camera 😊 Then my dad told me to look at him and say hi. I did – and saw he was holding a puppy!!! It was the same kind of dog we had before it died. I couldn't believe we got a new puppy! I got to name him and we call him Charley. He was the best birthday present ever!
