

Opening Lines from Young Adult Literature

"I was deep behind enemy lines, in the very heart of the opposing camp." From Geography Club by Brent Hartinger

"One day, when he was naughty, Mr. Bunnsy looked over the hedge into Farmer Fred's field and saw it was full of fresh green lettuces." From The Amazing Maurice and his Educated Rodents by Terry Pratchett

"My dad left when I still had a month to go in the darkroom, and historically when people have tried to figure me out (as in, 'What went wrong?'), they usually conclude that Mom spoiled me; gave me everything I wanted because I had no pappy." From Staying Fat for Sarah Byrnes by Chris Crutcher

"It was my first morning of high school." From Speak by Laurie Halse Anderson

"When I was little, my uncle Pete had a necktie with a porcupine painted on it." From Stargirl by Jerry Spinelli

"We went to the moon to have fun, but the moon turned out to completely suck." From Feed by M. T. Anderson

"Roy would not have noticed the strange boy if it weren't for Dana Matherson, because Roy ordinarily didn't look out the window of the school bus." From Hoot by Carl Hiaasen

"If you're reading this, it must be a thousand years from now." From The Last Book in the Universe by Rodman Philbrick

"We hear a wordless recording of wetland sound effects: frogs croaking, birds calling, water rippling gently." From Seek by Paul Fleischman

"In the midst of life comes death." From Crispin: The Cross of Lead by Avi

"It was one of those super-duper-cold Saturdays." From The Watsons Go to Birmingham—1963 by Christopher Paul Curtis

"My mom says I didn't sleep through the night until I was eight years old." From The First Part Last by Angela Johnson

"In the beginning there were thirty-six of them, thirty-six droplets of life so tiny that Eduardo could see them only under a microscope." From The House of the Scorpion by Nancy Farmer

"I'm alone in the office of Bateman's Eternal Light Funeral Services." From Chanda's Secrets by Allan Stratton
