Please comment on the following aspects of the art and writing lesson.
1.	After each phase of writing, you had the opportunity to discuss your responses to the art with other students. What was most helpful about these discussions?
2.	Sometimes when we are asked to revise our writing, we focus on grammar and spelling errors. This exercise asked you to consider new information and what your reader needs to know when making revisions. What were the two most important changes you made between your initial and final drafts?
3.	Do you think that having the opportunity to talk to other students while you are writing other pieces would help you to make more specific revisions?
