

Hypothetical Debate Scenario

The administrators (principal, vice principals, etc.) at your school want to change the requirements for graduation so that at least three mandatory classes (English, math, history, etc.) include service-learning, meaning that students would be required to participate in service-learning in at least three classes in order to graduate. Before the administrators make a final decision, they want to hear students' views about this change.

What is your initial opinion about this change? Are you for it, against it, or undecided?
