
Unhinged Comparison: Images to Text

Description of what is seen

The boy is eating a salad. Someone is cracking a nut. Someone is cutting meat. Someone is eating fruit. The boy wants to eat soup. The boy eats the meat. The girls are eating salad.

The actual text (or essay) behind the film

Sometimes the structure of an object will tell us what it is designed to do, or what it is not designed to do.

Human beings are omnivorous. That means we eat vegetables as well as meat. The structures inside our mouths support that function.