

Reflection Questions

Consider all of the situations in which your group (and the other groups) chose to have Holden communicate through text messages. Which situation seems to lend itself most naturally to texting? Which text message did the best job of communicating as you imagine Holden would? Why?

What was the most challenging aspect of this lesson? Selecting the situation? Representing Holden's voice with a limited number of words? Something else? Explain what you found the most challenging and how your group tried to meet that challenge.
