

Additional Books about Snow

Fiction

Buehner, Caralyn. (2002). Snowmen at Night. Phyllis Fogelman Books.

A fantasy about what snowmen do at night

George, Lindsay Barret. (1999). In the Snow: Who's Been Here? New York: HarperTrophy.

While sledding, children find tracks of animals and put corn out for them

George, William. (1992). Winter at Long Pond. Trumpet Club.

A father and his children cut down two trees, one for Christmas and one to feed the animals

Hader, Berta & Elmer Hader. (1993). The Big Snow. Aladdin Library.

Animals getting ready for winter

Keats, Ezra Jack. (1996). The Snowy Day. New York: Viking Children's Books.

A boy's adventures on a snowy day

McGeorge, Constance W. (1999). Snow Riders. Chronicle Books.

A fantasy about snow horses that come to life

Sams II, Carl R., & Jean Stoick. (2000). Stranger in the Woods: A Photographic Fantasy.

Milford, MI: Carl R. Sams II Photography.

A fictionalized account of a snowman in the forest to feed the animals

Shulevitz, Uri. (1998). Snow. New York: Farrar Straus Giroux.

Snow in the city

Tresselt, Alvin. (1988). White Snow, Bright Snow. New York: Mulberry Books.

Classic story of a snowstorm

Nonfiction

Bentley, W.A., & W.J. Humphreys. (1962). Snow Crystals. Mineola, NY: Dover.

Photographs of snowflakes

Krensky, Stephen. (1989). Snow and Ice: A Science is Fun Book. New York: Scholastic.

Easy experiments and exciting facts about snow and ice

Martin, Jacqueline Briggs. (1998). Snowflake Bentley. Boston, Massachusetts: Houghton Mifflin.

Biography of a self-taught scientist who photographed snowflakes

San Souci, Daniel. (1994). North Country Night. New York: Picture Yearling.

Animals in winter