

Election Web sites

The PBS Kids Democracy Project

<http://www.pbs.org/democracy/kids/vote/>

Information about voting and elections, past and present. Students can create and print out a "future voters' card" which states the two issues most important to them and how they think they should be handled.

Voter Outreach Through Education

<http://vote.wa.gov/outreach/index.tpl>

Written for Washington State, this site has information as well as games and other resources that are universally applicable.

First Gov for Kids

http://www.kids.gov/k_gov.htm

Resource site with a number of links to other government pages for kids.

kidsnewsroom.com

<http://www.kidsnewsroom.org/election/election.asp>

Questions and answers about the election process

Take Your Kids to Vote

<http://www.takeyourkidstovote.org/>

Take Your Kids to Vote has suggestions for activities for students of all ages to do at home with their families. Also has "Debate Bingo" cards to download and use while watching the debates. Includes activities and candidate lists and issues for local, state, and national elections, and LOTS of links.

Ben Franklin's Government Guide for Kids

http://www.takeyourkidstovote.org/LINKS/bensguide_k2.htm

National symbols, games, geography, community resources, Ben's ABCs and more.

The White House for Kids

<http://www.takeyourkidstovote.org/LINKS/whitehouse.htm>

The White House for Kids has links for history, pets, coloring pages for all the presidents, historical ABCs, and more.