

Literature Circles with Film Roles – Casting Director

The job of the Casting Director is to look for actors to play roles. In order to do that, the casting director must understand characterization.

As Casting Director, your job is to document the characters in the text, as well as the character traits they possess.

- 1. As you read, list the major characters in your assigned sections.

---

---

---

---

- 2. Describe how each character looks (physical description).

---

---

---

---

- 3. Tell how a character acts and what s/he does.

---

---

---

---

- 4. Explain how other characters in the story react to this character.

---

---

---

---