

Science Fiction Projects

- Write a literary analysis of one of the science fiction novels, using the information they gathered in your research as your guide.
- The setting of science fiction texts is in the future. If you read this text in the future, what aspects would read as contemporary realistic fiction? Write a paper that explains your observations.
- The texts listed on the booklist are not without some ethical questions. Select an action or decision in the plot, and write a persuasive paper that explains how things could have been handled differently. Use the Persuasion Map to gather your thoughts before you begin your first draft.

- Based on your research, create a glossary of scientific, technical, engineering, and/or mathematical terminology from the science fiction novel. In your description of the terms, explain both the nonfiction meaning of the term and how that term is used in the fictional text.
