

All Quiet on the Western Front* Assignment

From the end of the novel:

He fell in October 1918 on a day that was so quiet and still on the whole front, that the army report confined itself to the single sentence: All quiet on the Western Front.

He had fallen forward and lay on the earth as though sleeping. Turning him over one saw that he could not have suffered long; his face had an expression of calm, as though almost glad the end had come.

Project Requirements

1. Rewrite the ending of the novel, following Remarque's style. Your ending should be from 75-100 words long. It should be creative, yet serious. You can't change the fact that Paul died, but you can add information as to how. You must also maintain the sense of situational irony.
2. Choose a new title for the novel, and weave it into the ending as Remarque did. You may do this in one of two ways:
  - Choose a title and work it into the ending.
  - Write the ending and then extract a title from what you have written.
3. Design a new book cover for the novel that includes symbols that fit your new title. Decorate the cover and type or write the ending inside.
